

The Dalles Daily Chronicle.

WEDNESDAY, DEC. 31, 1890

LOCAL BREVITIES.

Do not forget to write it 1891. The banks will be closed tomorrow. Mr. C. R. Bone of Hood River is in the city.

Judge Dysart, of Centralia, Wash., is in the city. The postoffice will be open tomorrow from 8 to 10 o'clock A. M.

Don't forget the Gesang Verein at the Gymnasium hall to-night.

The officers of Temple Lodge, A. O. U. W. will be installed to-morrow night.

Dr. H. Logan who has been spending a few days in Portland has returned home.

Wancomalodge, K. of P., give a ball at their new hall in Hood River to-night.

The fog hangs like a funeral pall and we hope will depart with the remains of the old year.

Dr. J. J. Steiner who has been spending a few days in Portland, returned this morning.

J. H. Larsen arrived home from Walla Walla to-day bringing with him a race-horse and a speeding cart.

There will be a shooting match at live pigeons on the beach tomorrow, Joles Bros. furnishing the pigeons.

Mr. Merrill T. Fish, of Albany, at one time foreman in the Snoo office here is in the city visiting friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hislop of Tacoma arrived this morning and are visiting their daughter Mrs. E. Jacobsen.

Thomas and Isaac Joles made another raid on the Sherman county geese last Saturday returning home Monday with 45.

G. W. Joles won the leather medal for bad shooting at the last meeting of the Club and wears it on his vest like a little man.

In an eastern city a young physician had not been very successful, and, therefore, has lost his patience. He was probably just practicing.

Mr. J. H. Middleton of Hood River who has been at Boise City for several weeks, passed down on the passenger yesterday morning.

Business at the court house is at a standstill. In the clerk's office the copy of the assessment roll is being compared with the original, but outside of this it is as dull as an English joke, quiet as a woman's conscience.

Thos. A. Hudson, fire insurance agent has handed the CHRONICLE a very handsome calendar of the Liverpool, London and Globe company, which has on it all the storm signals. It is gotten up in an exceedingly handsome manner.

Have you seen those rustic chairs made by Livermore & Andrews at 77 Court Street? If not go and look at them. They are unique comfortable and pretty, and will wake as neat a New Year's present as you can select.

Scott & McCoy, of Grant, shipped thirty-five carloads of wheat one day last week. Cars are getting plentiful, which indicates that the worst of the wheat blockade is over. It has cost the farmers whole lots of money, and the same state of affairs is liable to arise any year unless the Columbia is utilized for carrying away our wheat crops.

The ball given by the German Gesang Verein, "Harmony" this evening at the Gymnasium hall, promises to be one of the most entertaining affairs of the kind ever given in The Dalles. The music will be furnished by Professor Birgfeld's full orchestra, which guarantees perfection in that line. The Gesang Verein will render a few songs during the evening which will prove a rare treat, and our citizens should not fail to hear them.

Citizens of Grass Valley are circulating a petition through Sherman county asking that a portion of Wasco county be added to it. The part they want is not large, but would extend the southern boundary of Sherman to Buck Hollow. The reason given is that the present line divides up their neighborhood. Moro and that portion of the country wants it while Wasco does not, the difference of opinion being in a measure caused by the fact that it would add to Moro's strength in the county seat fight.

It is very probable that there will be a change in the passenger trains on the U. P., and that another train will be put on running from Spokane Falls to Portland, and passing here in the daytime. A change is badly needed as the passenger service between Pendleton and Portland is worse than none. Most of the time the cars are crowded with through passengers and those getting in the train at way stations can stand up. The Union Pacific has this section so it can't get away from it, and consequently treats us like so many cattle.

Tomorrow is, or will be, just as you choose, the glad New Year, the day for over indulgence and total swearing off. Tomorrow the tempting glass of whatever one likes best, will be kissed good by for ever, an eternity which will be measured in most cases by two Sundays. The good old pipe, which has furnished its soporific comfort for months past will be abjured and laid carefully away, where it can be found again, should it be needed. The CHRONICLE wishes each and all of its readers a Happy New Year, and ability to keep the fact that they have A Significant Meeting.

A meeting of representatives of the Grange, Farmers' Alliance and Knights of Labor was held last evening in the Knights of Pythias' hall, in this city. The meeting, which was in no sense a political one, was characterized throughout by the utmost harmony. The meeting thoroughly protested against the slowness of the work at the Cascade locks and the consequent delay in opening the Columbia river to navigation, and passed resolutions urging the coming legislature to appropriate $50,000, for the building of a portage railroad, and pledging their support, to the utmost of their ability, to the proposed line of boats between this city and the upper Cascades. Resolutions were also passed in favor of the State owning, printing and publishing its own text books for use in the common schools, and the furnishing of them to the pupils at actual cost and for furnishing at the actual cost of production, to all who wish to buy, copies of the revised statutes and session laws of Oregon. This was considered in every way better than the proposal of the Press Association to have the laws printed in the newspapers of the several counties at the expense of the state. The meeting was almost unanimously in favor of the repeal of the mortgage tax law, while at the same time it opposed, are double taxation, the repeal of the law allowing deduction for indebtedness. Your correspondent would gather from the tone of the meeting that the farmers are in dead earnest in favor of an open river as their only salvation from the incompetent service and destructive rates of the present monopoly.

A Farmers' Meeting.

The meeting of the producers yesterday at the Cosmopolitan parlors was not as many supposed, of a political character. It was purely a business meeting for the purpose of discussing principally the transportation problem, and matters incidental thereto. The matter of putting a line of boats on the river was discussed and the sense of the meeting was that this should be done. The farmers are thoroughly in earnest, and the meeting was a spirited one. A committee was appointed to meet with a committee of The Dalles board of trade, and as a member expressed it, "find out what the Board thinks we ought to or can do." The same gentlemen said: "I am willing to agree to ship all my grain and produce by the new line paying for one year, at least, the same rates charged now by the railroad," and there are hundreds of others who will do the same thing. Those who have money will help and those who have not, but have property, are willing and anxious to lend the scheme credit and give it patronage. The Board of Trade should take action at once and either decide to place the boats on the river or abandon the scheme so that our farmer friends can look elsewhere for aid and devise some other scheme by which the river can be utilized. The time for action is at hand, and the success of the affair depends entirely upon the measure of promptness, energy and determination with which the Board of Trade acts.

Shooting at Mitchell.

Johnny Bilyeu arrived here yesterday after a doctor, bringing the news of a shooting scrape that occurred in front of the dance hall at Mitchell about 1 o'clock yesterday morning. Mr. Bilyeu knew but little of the circumstances of the difficulty more than Amis and his brother had some trouble with the Magee brothers in front of the hall and three shots were fired, two by Marsh and one by Bob Magee, one of which took effect in Amis' right groin. Mr. Bilyeu left shortly after the shooting, but when he left it was supposed that the Magees had skipped out, neither of them having been arrested. Dr. Belknap left yesterday afternoon for Mitchell to attend the wounded man. Sheriff Booth also went over to look after the men who did the shooting.—Ochoec Review.

Nine carloads of cattle from Idaho, bound for the Sound were taken off here last night to be fed. The company has decided to have all stock for Sound points taken off here, and the cars cleaned and sanded. If this is not done here, it must be in Portland and it is much cheaper to have it attended to here.

Mr. Z. P. Jones, of Moro, is in the city. He is the gentleman in charge of the Sherman county toll road, and informs us that the statements made about his collecting one and two dollars toll for a two-horse team are incorrect. The court allows him sixty cents but he charges only fifty cents.

For the New City on the Columbia River.

It is now a moral certainty that very soon North Dalles is to receive another enterprise of greater importance to it than the one already started and our people must not be surprised if, at least, two manufactories are soon put under way. Mr. O. D. Taylor accompanied by a gentleman from Portland leave for the east on an extended trip, in a few days and on their return we shall expect to see lively times at North Dalles. Back of the proposition at North Dalles are men who are quietly working out the rapid development of the north side of the river. They are financially strong and able to put into practical operation improvements of very large magnitude. The next ninety days will change the appearance at North Dalles and our people will then know what we meant when we advised them to purchase something in this young city.

FINE FARM TO RENT.

THE FARM KNOWN AS THE "MOORE Farm" situated on Three Mile creek about two and one-half miles from The Dalles, will be leased for one or more years at a low rent to any responsible tenant. This farm has upon it a good dwelling house and necessary out buildings, about two acres of orchard, about three hundred acres under cultivation, a large portion of the land will raise a good volunteer wheat crop in 1891 with ordinary favorable weather. The farm is well watered. For terms and particulars enquire of Mrs. Sarah A. Moore or at the office of Messrs. Huntington & Wilson, The Dalles, Or.

An Eaten Out Town.

On the occasion of the visit of President Harrison to Topeka, Kan., the hotels, restaurants and boarding houses were overrun by the great crowd. People clamored for food as the crowd clamored to get into a circus, and guards were placed at the dining room doors to keep back those who could not be at once accommodated. A gentleman who had tried every public place found at a late hour in the afternoon a restaurant in an out of the way place. He went in and asked if he could be fed. The proprietor said he had been eaten out.

"I'll give you a dollar for a glass of milk and piece of pie," said the stranger.

"Ain't got no milk and ain't got no pie," replied the hungry proprietor.

"What's that in that showcase—isn't that pie?" asked the stranger, pointing out a pumpkin pie. The proprietor looked at it in a languid manner and answered: "That's all we have left for my family. If I sell that they won't get anything."

"I'll give you a dollar for the pie," said the hungry stranger, growing desperate.

The proprietor took out the pie and was in the act of handing it over when his jaw opened and about half the pie disappeared, the other half being handed over to the stranger, who refused it.

"Sell it for a quarter," said the pie man, realizing now that his chance was growing smaller. But the stranger refused the ruggid moiety and went away sorrowful and as hungry as when he came.—Chicago Tribune.

Sleep for School Children.

We all know how much greater is the need of children for sleep than of grown persons, and how necessary for their good it is to be able fully to satisfy this need, but how great it is generally at any particular age of the child is very hard to define exactly. The amount varies under different climatic conditions. In Sweden we consider a sleep of eleven or twelve hours necessary for the younger school children and of at least eight or nine hours for the older ones. Yet the investigations have shown that this requirement lacks much of being met in all the classes through the whole school. Boys in the higher classes get but little more than seven hours in bed, and as that is the average it is easy to perceive that many of them must content themselves with still less sleep.

It is also evident from the investigations that the sleeping time is diminished with the increase of the working hours from class to class, so that pupils of the same age enjoy less according as they are higher in their classes. It thus appears constantly that in schools of relatively longer hours of work the sleeping time of the pupils is correspondingly shorter. In short, the prolongation of the working hours takes place for the most part at the cost of the time for sleep.—Professor Axel Key in Popular Science.

Number Both Doors.

The golden rule, "Do unto others as you would have them do unto you," is violated in a petty fashion in New York which is intensely irritating. Many people when finishing their houses neglect to put the numbers on properly, with the result that strangers in search of a particular residence wander up and down the semi-lighted street cursing volubly. This absolute neglect of the law, however, is not as irritating as the practice of painting the name on the outer door and omitting it over the inner door. Until 10 o'clock the greater number of storm doors stand open.

The light from the hall chandelier illuminates the inner transom, but the outer one is a dull blank, on which nothing can be read. You stare at what you know are figures, finding yourself utterly unable to distinguish them, and you are reduced to the ignominious course of ringing the bell and asking what the number is, which invariably produces on the face of the servant who appears an expression of a conviction not flattering to your sobriety. Good Christians there be who put the number on both transoms—may their homes be exalted and their examples imitated!—New York Telegram.

The Swiss President.

Under the Swiss system the president of the confederacy has no more authority than a member of the cabinet. The head of the government is a council elected by the parliament. This council selects a chairman from its members, who thus becomes president of the republic, and assumes a cabinet portfolio, usually that of foreign affairs. He is clothed with no powers of appointment to office. His co-members of the cabinet, even the judges of the supreme court, are all elected. He can serve but a single year; hence his time and talents, instead of being devoted to filling offices and seeking a re-election, are given to the service of his country. He is helped in his efforts for pure and economical government by a corps of trained statesmen.—S. H. M. Byers in Harper's.

Business.

The scholar is always ready to pick up a thought, and a born man of business is ever on the lookout for a trade. A good natured coachman overtook a tired looking peddler, and offered him a lift to the next town. At the end of the ride the peddler, by way of emphasizing his thanks, offered the coachman the pick of his wares, but the proffer was declined.

"Well, then," insisted the enterprising pack carrier, "if you won't take a present don't you want to buy something?"—Excchange.

Aluminum in Search of a Name.

To end the long dispute which has been waged with reference to the right designation of the metal which is now assuming such importance, it is urged that the largest producers in the world favor the form aluminum, which also has the advantage of greater brevity, and that therefore foreign scientific journals and scientific men should follow the example of American journals and call it one for all aluminum.—New York Commercial Advertiser.
